Course Description:
This course examines contemporary issues in the English speaking world. Students will learn to evaluate such issues, compare them with their own societies, assemble evidence from other sources, and express their own views in a written format. For language development, the course builds on the skills required in the academic writing course. Students learn to use sources of evidence to support their writing on common issues in the English speaking world. They learn to use quotations and paraphrases, summarised texts and avoid plagiarism. The use of citations and references as a standard feature of academic writing is addressed. Vocabulary, grammar and written fluency are also reinforced.

Course Objectives:
- Students will refine their ability to differentiate between academic and non-academic writing styles.
- Students will produce well-structured five-paragraph essays on personal and simple academic topics.
- Students will paraphrase or summarize information from outside sources in their academic writing.
- Students will learn about Australia, and compare it with Japan in both a modern and historical context.
